

Free advice and support in your community

ReConnected is a service for people aged 55+ providing advice about the things that matter most to you.

It's completely free for residents of Stafford Borough and South Staffordshire.

If you find it difficult to meet people, we can keep in touch with regular phone calls or help you build the confidence to make new friends. We can lend a hand when you are completing forms, making applications, thinking about support in later life or finding out whether you are eligible for benefits.
